

INTERCONNECTION

We are indeed dealing with a time where we are learning to interconnect. We are also dealing with the implications of interconnectedness, and -at the same time- the implications of spirituality as an integral part of interconnectedness. It's very difficult to get a handle on spirituality in that form when you are accustomed to thinking of it as in some way "above you", some "higher quality". What I want to take you towards is a notion of spirituality that is actually rooted in you: in your energy, and the energy of all others around you and how you connect with them. Spirituality as interconnectedness: that's where we're going.
